ENTIRE NAVY TAKEN FROM KAISER ALLY

Pact Calls For Surrender of Warships to Allied Nations—Austria Must Renounce All Extra European Rights

Future Use of Submarines Prohibited—Boundary Lines Readjusted—Independence of Hungary Recognized

Austrian treaty provides:
Austria must accept the covenant of the league of nations and the labor charter.
She must renounce all her extra European rights.
She must demobilize all her naval and aerial forces.
Austria must recognize the complete independence of Hungary.
Austrian nationals guilty of violating international laws of war to be tried by allies.
Austria must accept economic conditions and freedom of transit similar to those in German treaty.
Boundaries of Bohemia and Moravia to form boundary between Austria and Czecho-Slovakia, with minor rectifications.
Allies later to fix southern boundary (referring to Jugo-Slavia).
Eastern boundary leaves Marburg and Radkesburg, to Jugo-Slavia.
Western and northwestern frontiers (facing Bavaria and Switzerland) unchanged.
Austria must recognize independence of Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia.
Boundaries of Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia to be finally fixed by mixed commission.
Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia must agree to protect racial, religious and linguistic minorities.
Austria must accept allied disposition of any Austrian rights in Turkey and Bulgaria.
Entire Austro-Hungarian navy to be surrendered to allies.
Twenty-one specified auxiliary cruisers to be disarmed and treated as merchantmen.
All warships, including submarines, under construction shall be broken up and may only be used for industrial purposes.
All navy arms and materials must be surrendered.
Future use of submarines prohibited.
Military clauses are reserved.

TREATY TEXT IN FULL

ST. GERMAIN, France.—The following is a summary of the Austrian treaty:
"The conditions of peace of the allied and associated powers, with the exception of military, reparations, financial and certain boundary clauses, were handed to the Austrian plenipotentiaries at St. Germain Monday. Those clauses which are not yet ready for presentation, will be delivered as soon as possible, the Austrians in the meantime having the opportunity to begin work on the greater part of the treaty in an effort to facilitate a final decision.
"The Austrian treaty follows exactly the same outline as the German and in many places is identical with it, except for the change in name. Certain specific clauses which applied only to Germany are, of course, omitted and certain new clauses included, especially as regards the new states created out of the former Austro-Hungarian empire, and the protection of the rights of the racial, religious and linguistic minorities in Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Rumania and Serb-Croat-Slovene state.
HUNGARY INDEPENDENT
"Austria is left by the treaty a state of from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 people inhabiting a territory of between 50,000 and 60,000 sq. miles. She is required to recognize the complete independence of Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia and the Serb-Croat-Slovene state and to cede other territories which variously in union with her composed the empire of Austria-Hungary with its population of over 50,000,000 people.
"Austria agrees to accept the league of nations covenant and the labor charter to renounce all her extra European rights, to demobilize her whole naval and aerial forces, to admit the right of trial by the allied and associated powers of her nationals guilty of violating the law and customs in force and to accept detailed provisions similar to those of the German treaty, as to economic relations and freedom of transit.
LEAGUE OF NATIONS

BOLSHEVIKI RULE IS DECLARED WORSE THAN CZARISW

REAL SITUATION IN RUSSIA TOLD BY U. S. WRITER

Must Secure Permit Even to Buy a Shirt or Rent a Room

American Party Held Up and Robbed of all Valuables

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR.
PARIS.—Russia, under the dictatorship of agitators, is a land where liberty is an unknown quantity. The Bolsheviks have surpassed czarism in their efforts to legalize control of everyone and everything. It is impossible to buy a shirt, rent a hotel room or go from one town to another, five miles distant, without permits from the communist commissaries.
Russia is now what the United States would be if soap-box orators could oust the ordinary people from Washington and replace the government with agitators, each of whom would practice his own theories without recognizing precedent, law or customs of living, in an effort to thrust "reforms" down the throats of the people.
I entered Russia thru the German-Bolshevik front in Lithuania as the first non-official penetrating this front—hitherto only German "secret official missions" used this route—with an open mind. After being passed under guard from the army outpost thru regimental, division, corps and army staffs, most of which were composed of ordinary youths apparently without qualification for responsibility, I arrived at Moscow. Owing to the fact there are now no hotels, I was obliged while still unwashed and unshaved, to call on the foreign minister and get a permit to live there.
DON'T WANT VISITORS.
The Bolsheviks declare they do not want foreigners inside the soviet domain. They had forbidden further entry of correspondents, but relented and permitted me to remain a few days. Like everyone in Moscow I had "perfect liberty" except I could not hire an interpreter, leave town, take photographs, visit factories or schools, rent a room, or see too much unguarded. The Bolshevik leaders promised to show me the constructive results of their system, such as factories running under communism, but they made evasion after evasion and failed to show me anything other than propaganda and how to interview leaders bubbling over with big ideas, as yet untested.
Taking advantage of a rumor in Moscow that American troops were withdrawing from Archangel, I managed to obtain the release of five American prisoners of war, confined in Moscow and being exposed to Bolshevikism, by means of lectures. The propaganda, however, did not deceive them. They were Bryant Hall, of New York, Glenn Leveille, of Mifflinburg, Pa., and Freeman Hogan, of Detroit.

HELD UP BY BOY.
After several delays the Yankee soldiers and I boarded a first class train for Petrograd, accompanied by a wounded British soldier. We did not experience the slightest delay until we reached the final Bolshevik outpost near the Finnish border, where a 17-year-old boy was in command. He refused to permit us to cross the frontier until assured the Finns opposite would receive us. This obstacle overcome by a Finnish courier, the "baby Bolshevik" next issued this ukase:
"Your papers to leave Russia may be all right from the foreign office, but they have not consulted me. I am in military authority here. I do not see why anyone should be permitted to cross the border. You will have to return to Petrograd with a trainload of Finns I am sending back. You cannot leave Russia unless I say so."
Just before the train pulled out for Petrograd, carrying 400 women, children and babies—penniless and weeping in disappointment because this whippersnapper commander's whim prevented their escape, he softened under the influence of flattery and agreed to release us.
ENTIRE PARTY ROBBED.
The entire party was stripped and searched inch by inch. Money, cameras, credentials, letters, and even propaganda tracts and copies of the wireless proposals to the allies which the Bolshevik foreign office had sealed up to reach the outside world, were confiscated. As we left the room the Bolshevik officers surrounding the table were eagerly grabbing for American banknotes taken from us. They had permitted us to retain a few Bolshevik rubles, evidently considering them too valuable for confiscation.

When the German delegates were, filming the German delegates on dispatched to the peace conference their way from the Hotel des Reservoirs, a camera man was sent along to get the proper kind of pictures for home use. The photo above, one of the unique ones of the conference, shows the German photographer or the guards around their hotel.

FOE'S COUNTER-PROPOSALS CONSTITUTE A NEW TREATY

German Suggestions Expected To Delay Allies' Reply 'Till Next Week

Difference of Opinion Still Exists as to Probable Modifications

PARIS.—The fact that the German counter-proposals practically constitute a new treaty, led to the belief Monday that the allies' reply may not be completed before the first of next week.
Under direction of the "big four," experts have been commissioned to study every point raised by the Germans, with a view to singling out any well-founded suggestions.
A difference of opinion continues to exist in the press and unofficial quarters as to whether the allies will make any modifications in the original treaty. The French are unqualifiedly against even the slightest concession, but some Paris newspapers express the belief that some minor alterations may be made to permit the German delegation to save its face in signing the treaty. Unofficial information obtained by the United Press last week was circulated here by the Agency Radio, to the effect that many of the allied delegates were inclined to favor important modifications for this purpose, has created a furore in the French press. Many of the papers emphatically deny that such a situation exists, while others declare their own information bears this out.
The story of how the United Press beat on the summary of the German counter proposals, telegraphed from Berlin, caused Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau to abandon his plan to hold them until the last minute Thursday and caused him to transmit everything then completed Wednesday, has just been revealed.

2 MEN KILLER, 2 WOMEN HURT, AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

SIDNEY, Ohio.—Two men were killed instantly and two women injured when an automobile owned by L. P. Wolf, Piqua, was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train at Kirkwood grade crossing, five miles south of this city.
The dead: Arthur J. Finney, 38 years old, Piqua, and Christ Roebach, 35 years old, Piqua. Mrs. Christ Roebach and Mrs. L. P. Wolf were injured. Wolf, owner of the machine, escaped injury.

FATHER DROWNED IN VAIN ATTEMPT TO SAVE GIRL

AKRON — John L. Miller, 50, of Cuyahoga Falls, was drowned at Monroe Falls, near here, late Sunday, while making an ineffectual effort to rescue his 15-year-old daughter who had fallen into the water. She grabbed him around the neck and both went to their death.

WRITE RHYMES AND GET MONEY

Here's your chance to make some easy money.
Most everyone can write little rhymes. That's what The Daily News wants. It wants jingles about WANT ADS, the faithful little workers of the public, and will pay for them.
Prizes for the three best rhymes about want ads submitted this week will be paid by The News. The first prize is $3, second $2, and third $1.
Here are the conditions—
Make the first line of your rhyme, "I tried to find a furnished flat."
Rhymes must not be more than four lines. Be sure they mention want ads. Write on one side of the paper only and put your name and address at the top. You may submit as many rhymes as you like. All rhymes must be in The News office by noon next Friday, June 6. The winners will be announced Sunday, June 8.
Address all answers to the editor and mark them "Want Ad Rhyme."

LOOPHOLES SEEN IN NATION'S DRY LAWS BY WETS

Anti-Prohibitionists Believe Liquor Will Continue to be Sold

Think Regulation of Traffic Rests in the Hands of Congress

WASHINGTON — Anti-prohibitionists are proceeding on the theory that notwithstanding the constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, congress will be able to find a way to evade the strict enforcement of the provision and that actual prohibition will exist only in such states as have prohibitory laws and provide for their enforcement by the states themselves.
Upon the authority of one of the leading opponents of prohibition in the senate it can be stated that the liquor interests expect the question to be one which will figure in all future congressional campaigns.
The statement is made that congress will be competent at any time to declare that beer and wine are not intoxicants in the meaning of the constitution, and that whiskey may be made and sold under such restrictions and for such purposes as may be defined by congress.
Since the amendment divides the power of enforcement between the federal government and the states, congress can refuse to enact enforcing legislation or can repeal any such legislation that may have been adopted.
Opponents of prohibition concede that the prohibition amendment can never be repealed, but they insist that it will only be enforced so long as a majority of the voters are in favor of it.

WOMEN ASK JOBS AND PAY IN NAVY

Yeomen (F)—That Stands for Female—Object to Being Let Out

WASHINGTON — Six thousand yeowomen, or as they are officially designated Yeomen (F.) — the F standing for female or feminine — plan to dispatch a landing party to the capitol this week and invest the house committee on naval affairs, which threatens to cut them off the pay roll on July 1.
The women, who enlisted in the navy for the period of the war, want to keep their jobs in the peace establishment and contend that they thereby will release an equal number of temporarily enlisted men who are impatient to get back to civil life.
Chairman Butler and the Republican majority of the committee, however, look upon the yeomen (F) as a luxury, and say they must go in the interest of economy. The women hope to deter the Republicans from withholding appropriation for their pay for the next fiscal year.
FORMER SHERIFF DEAD
AKRON — James H. Shielus, 73, a former sheriff of Mahoning county, died here Sunday of a complication of disease. Burial in Canfield, Ohio.

HAPSBURG ENEMY IS TOLD OF PEACE PRICE BY ALLIES

Foe Pleads For Mercy When Treaty is presented at St. Germain

"Accord Us Wilsonian Principles," Chancellor Renner Asks in Reply

ST. GERMAIN, France — The peace treaty was handed to the Austrian delegates at 12:23 p. m. Monday.

The meeting will not convene until 12:25 owing to the late arrival of President Wilson. He was the last of the delegates to reach the chateau entering the hall at 12:14.

Premier Clemenceau, in his instructions to the Austrian delegates, informed them that no oral discussions would be allowed, and that all written observations must be submitted within a maximum period of 15 days.

The document was reported to be a mere skeleton of the treaty, with financial, economic, reparations, military and boundary clauses either wholly or partially lacking. The complete sections consist principally of political and territorial clauses, together with the league of nations covenant, which is identical with that in the German treaty, according to advance information.

BOUNDARY LINES
While the treaty indicates generally the territory which Austria loses, the precise boundaries will be fixed later either by the allies or a mixed commission. It provides that Austria shall retain the northern boundary she had in 1914, with the Czecho-Slovak boundaries on the northwest, while on the south she will be assigned the boundaries fixed under the treaties of 1916, except the regions of Marburg, and Klagenfurt, the allegiance of which will be decided by plebiscites. The treaty holds that the recent plebiscite in Vorarlberg, where the population voted to join Switzerland, is invalid and provides that Vorarlberg shall remain with Austria and pay her portion of the Austrian war debts and indemnities.

AUSTRIAN REPUBLIC
Clemenceau finished speaking at 12:29. His speech was then translated into English, Italian and German.

Chancellor Renner arose and replied in French. While he was speaking a glass case containing relics of the stone age (the chateau is used as a national museum) burst and interrupted him momentarily.

"We trust in your sense of justice and practical spirit not to demand that we be crushed," said Renner. "We are disposed to recognize our own responsibilities and accept our share in proportion with the other great powers."

"Our revolution was pacific and without military action. It was simply a special revolution as peaceable and reasonable as possible, and we will not depart from that line of conduct and policy if you give us the peace of justice and democracy necessary for our economic existence."

FACED STARVATION.
Renner argued that all the people of the former Austro-Hungarian empire should share in the responsibilities and cost of the war.

Describing conditions in Austria, he said:
"Only by the relief organized by Herbert Hoover, have we avoided absolute starvation."

Renner pointed out that the new Austrian republic which is an outgrowth of the old Austrian monarchy, never declared war against any of the present allies. Evidently realizing that the might have no future opportunity to present Austria's claims verbally, he took advantage of the occasion to read a lengthy typewritten address, setting forth her claims for clemency.

"We realize we are in your hands but we ask in the name of humanity that you accord us the Wilsonian principles, recognized by the allies, to dispose of ourselves."

In conclusion, Renner said:
"You may rest assured that our foremost wish is cooperation according to our strength and within uncontented boundaries to secure possession of our liberties and civilization. We will cooperate to the fullest possible extent in the league of nations for attainment of world peace."

Following translation of Renner's speech into English and Italian, Clemenceau asked if the Austrians have any more to say. They replied in the negative.

FIRST SUBURBAN DAY WEDNESDAY

Merchants Announce Bargains and Invite People to Take Advantage of Them

Lima's first "Suburban Shopping Day" is to be held Wednesday, June 4, the merchants of the city having made elaborate preparations to make the event one long to be remembered in merchandising circles.

Invitations have been extended to some five thousand of the people in the county and a general invitation given through the city and county press for wise-shoppers to be in Lima Wednesday to enjoy the big values that will be the rule on that day.

Wednesday is to be a regular bargain event in Lima, the merchants representing all of the various lines of business having pledged themselves to give bona-fide bargains every Wednesday to city as well as country buyers.

There is no reason but that Lima through this effort should become an added trade center and distributing point for the entire section of the country, it is declared. This development will mean much not only to the merchants but to the residents who will then still better understand the slogan that "It Pays To Trade in Lima."

SEVERAL MORE WITNESSES FOR FORD TO BE HEARD

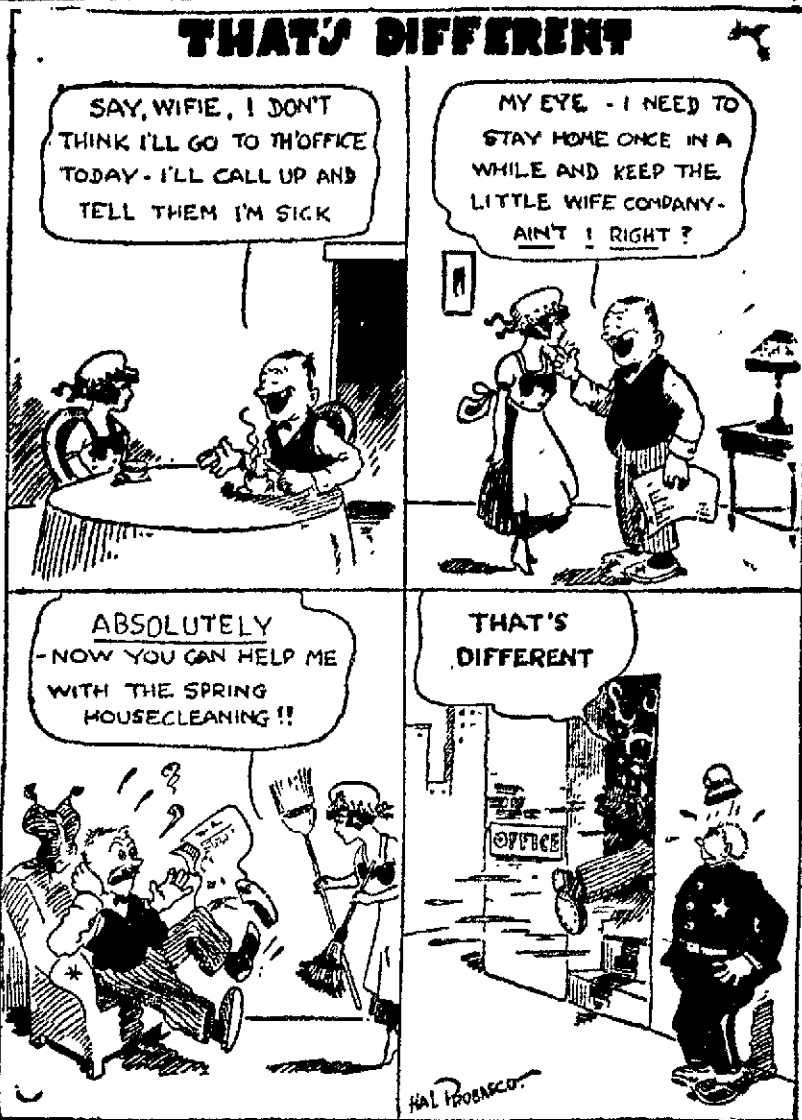

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich.—The fourth week of the Ford-Tribune libel suit opened here Monday.

With two important witnesses for the plaintiff yet to testify on the stand and possibly some others, the Ford side will go far into the week and may consume the whole of it with their testimony. They will present depositions to be read as part of their testimony.

Edwin F. Clement of the educational department of the Ford Motor Company, resumed his testimony on the motor company's "profit sharing" paying plan Monday. The other important witness to follow him is Dean A. S. Marquis, of the sociological department of the Ford plant.

sign, which will amount to twenty-five per cent. Apprentice seamen will now receive pay which will amount to $42.30, a raise of $9.39 with the new rate.

Recommendations are provided for in the legislation now pending to include engineers and handsman in the professional class.

"It is the aim of the department to make the service attractive for men who are prevented from enlisting due to the low rate of pay," said Cook. "Men who are withholding their enlistment on this account can now be cared for under the new regulations," he stated.

Merchants in Month of May Pick The News

ADVERTISING FACTS

MERCHANTS of Lima were very discriminating during the past month and picked their advertising, well knowing the EVENING newspaper is the one best medium. The records show as follows:

	Inches
THE NEWS	36,825
THE TIMES	27,890
GAZETTE	26,751
Lima merchants placed	9,574 inches in the Evening News over the morning competitor.
Foreign advertisers who always discriminate ran	8,070 inches in The News and only 4,123 in the morning paper.
CLASSIFIED USERS placed	5,830 inches in The News as against 4,629 inches in the morning paper.
A NEW RECORD was established by The News when total advertising went over	50,000 inches for the month, or 50,825 inches net. At the same time The News ran 528 pages during the month, breaking another record.

JUSTICE

For the Foster-Parents of Our Children

IT IS STRANGE that the generous-hearted American people, who poured out their riches so prodigally in response to every patriotic, every charitable appeal, and who accorded such enthusiastic and liberal support to every measure and to every group that helped win the war, should have neglected to properly encourage and reward the services of one of the noblest professions in the field of human activities—a profession that in lofty ideals, in unselfish principles, in sacred responsibilities, stands side by side with the ministry of the Gospel itself.

We wish to bespeak, with whatever power and authority we may have and with such words as may be granted to us, some measure of consideration for the foster-fathers and mothers of our children—the school-teachers of the United States of America.

There is no class of workers of whom we demand so much. We commit into their keeping the minds, the bodies, and the very souls of our children in the tender and formative years of their lives, and they, receiving these children, can indeed be said to hold in the hollow of their hands the future of America. We expect these devoted men and women to watch over and care for our sons and daughters as tho they were their very own, to drill them in the arts and sciences, to train them for business and for citizenship, to instruct them in manners and in morals, to do for them those things which we would do had we the training and the leisure.

No class has assumed so heavy, so trying a burden and a responsibility with such willingness as these consecrated men and women. No class has performed its increasingly heavy tasks more devotedly, more conscientiously, and with less thought of self. No class served its country more whole-heartedly, more loyally, during the trying and tempestuous times of war, day by day pursuing its round of duty, day by day helping the young people, and through the children the parents, to see the struggle in its true light, thus securing the cooperation of the community in every measure undertaken by the Government to win the war.

Truly they made the nation their everlasting debtor. Truly had they not done their work so well this republic would not outlast the span of a generation.

What then have the teachers received at our hands in return? They have received little of honor and somewhat less of pay. Other classes have prospered; other classes through powerful organizations have secured generous wages. The teachers have no spokesman, however, to demand even the simple justice of a living wage, so to them we give their petty pre-war pittance, so meager, so pitifully inadequate, that it places a burning brand of shame and disgrace upon this nation.

The men and women who are making the Americans of to-morrow are being treated with less consideration than the janitors who sweep out the buildings in which they are employed; they are earning, on the average, less than the wages given to the scrubwomen employed in the public buildings of the United States Government. Normal-school graduates receive less salary than the street-sweepers; high-school principals and superintendents less than section foremen; country school-teachers less for instructing the farmer's children than he pays his hired man to feed his hogs.

In a certain town of Illinois, for instance, the average wage of fifteen miners for one month was $217, while the average monthly salary of fifteen teachers in the same town was $55. In another town a miner, who, by the way, was an enemy alien, drew more than $2,700 last year, while the salary of the high-school principal in the same town was $765. We welcome with all our hearts the long delayed recognition that is being given to the man who works with his hands. We believe that this same workingman will be the first to join with us in asking better pay for those who teach his children.

No wonder there are fifty thousand vacancies in the teaching forces of the schools. No wonder the ranks are being filled with weak men and with immature women who merely use the profession as a stepping-stone to something better. No wonder there are thirty thousand teachers in the United States who have had no schooling beyond the eighth grammar grade. Small wonder, indeed, that seven million of our school-children are being trained by teachers, mere boys and girls themselves, who have had no professional education whatever.

When we consider that the 740,000 teachers of America are paid an average salary of $630 a year; when, moreover, we consider the fact that living costs have actually advanced 103 per cent. since the beginning of the war, thereby cutting the buying-power of those insignificant salaries in half, we can easily determine that only a fool or a martyr would choose teaching as a profession, or would long remain in it unless these terrible conditions were swiftly remedied.

What a crime is this! What an indictment! What an unpardonable sin at the doors of an enlightened people who now find themselves at the head and forefront of the democracies of the world! How can we better prepare for the great undertakings of reconstruction than by setting ourselves immediately to remedying this perilous condition? In these trying and chaotic times when the world is beset by unrest, by anarchy, by revolution, by the devil's brood of appalling evils that follow in the train of war, we must make sure that the foundations of our republic are set on a rock that it may stand against the flood.

The peace and security of the world of the future will be in the safe-keeping of the generation now in our schools. These boys and girls must weave up "the raveled sleeve" of civilization. Their hands must minister to the wounds of the nations. Their minds must meet and solve the difficult and crucial problems that will be their inheritance. Their hearts must be so imbued with the horrors of war and with the poverty and anguish that inevitably follow in its wake that they in their time will enter upon it only as a last resort in national self-defense or in support of some great principle of humanity.

Never has there been a more urgent need for high-minded, great-hearted, splendidly trained, 100 per cent. American instructors to drive home the vital lesson that these times hold. Never has the future of the nation been so clearly committed into the hands of the teachers. And yet thousands of men and women of ability who would prefer to teach are reluctantly leaving their chosen calling, forced by the hard necessities of their very existence.

The teachers ask no largess at the hands of fortune. They enter their profession for service, not riches. But they invest years and money in preparation for their life work, and the knowledge they gain is shared with others who themselves use it to their own profit. Teachers, then, by every right and in all justice expect a return that will permit them and their dependents to live decently and in comfort.

In every community reached by THE LITERARY DIGEST there are readers of foresight, of vision, broad-minded men and thoughtful women who will see—nay, perhaps have long since seen—the critical and compelling importance of this problem. We are directing this appeal to them. We urge them to compare the salaries of their teachers with the wages of those who are doing work of equal value. There will be a challenge in the facts that will stir the community to action.

Let each community invest in schools so that it may thereby invest in a trained manhood and womanhood that can play their part in the great period of rebuilding and reconstruction that lies before us. Let each community set for its goal, as far as is practicable, a minimum wage of at least $1,000 a year for the teachers of America. This would cost the nation perhaps as much as we spent so gloriously in but one week of the Great War.

We are not pleading merely for the welfare of some single profession; we are not pleading for a special class; we are pleading for America: for her larger, her brighter, her richer future, for the fulfilment of her glorious promise. We are pleading for a coming race of men and women who shall be qualified to make complete the work of our forefathers who founded this nation and dedicated it to liberty, and who will bring to full fruition the new victories that we have won in freedom's cause. We are pleading for a wider teaching of the principles, the purposes, and the ideals of this nation that all men shall know her meaning and shall have equal access to her opportunities; that the light of Americanism shall so shine that it shall flood every home, every heart, in our great land

Since This Appeal Was Printed in the New York Papers, May 5th GOVERNOR SMITH has signed the Bill generously increasing the pay of the school teachers of New York State and in doing so wrote: "Neglect the school-houses and you provide a fertile field for the spread of the doctrines of the discontented, who, without a proper understanding of the benefits and blessings of our free country, cry out from the street corners of our important cities for the downfall of the state and the dissolution of our union."

LONG ILLNESS CAUSES
DEATH OF HARROD WOMAN

Mrs. Eliza Jane Dudgeon, 62, died at her home in Harrod Sunday at 10:45 o'clock. She had been ill the past two years with paralysis of the throat. Surviving are: Floyd Foulk and Frank Foulk; three daughters, Mrs. Len Brown of Rockville, Mrs. Jennie Rea of Harrod, and Mrs. Ethel Shockney of this city. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church in Harrod, with Rev. Wintreger officiating. Interment in Fairmont cemetery.

MEAT PRICES TO REMAIN
HIGH, PACKER DECLARES

CHICAGO — Meat prices, especially pork products, are to stay high, according to Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson and Company, packers, here Monday, after his arrival from abroad where he had been studying the food situation. Wilson said the prospect of a drop of two cents on more cannot put meat on a pre-war price basis.

Wilson based this statement on a declaration of great European demand.

BRITISH ACE LOST

NEW YORK — Captain Mansell James, British ace, supposedly lost in the Berkshire hills, was still missing Monday. James left Pittsfield, Mass., in his Sopwith scout plane for Atlantic City. Last seen of him was over Winchester, Conn., where he was sighted at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning flying southeasterly.

FIATERS TO MEET PRINCE

LONDON — The crew of the American naval sculler, N. C. 4, who made the flight to Plymouth from the United States, has been invited to meet the Prince of Wales. The Americans probably will be presented Thursday.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS
HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in uric acid, no longer causes irritation, it is a soothing bladder antiseptic.

Jad Salts is in fact a tonic and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MAKING AUTO SURVEY

A survey of the automobile business in the country is being made on an ocean to ocean trip by Lieut. John M. Foy, a recently returned aviator for the Motor Record. A New York trade journal, Lieut. Foy is expected in Lima within the next few days and will make a complete investigation of conditions in this community for his paper.

TREATY CRUSHES AUSTRIAN POWER

restoring peace to regulate the situation which has arisen from the dissolution of the said monarchy and the formation of the said states, and to establish the government of these countries on a firm foundation of justice and equity.

"For this purpose, the high contracting: duly named.

"Who, having communicated their full powers found in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

"From the coming into force of the present treaty, the state of war will terminate.

"Austria is recognized as a new and independent state under the name of the republic of Austria. From that moment, and subject to the provisions of this treaty, official relations will exist between the allied and associated powers and the republic of Austria."

NORTHERN FRONTIER

"The northern frontier, facing Czechoslovakia, follows the existing administrative boundaries, formerly separating the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia from those of the upper and lower Austrian provinces, subject to certain minor rectifications, notably in the regions of Grand and Feldberg and along the river Morava. The southern frontier facing Italy and the Serb-Croat-Slovene state is to be fixed by the principal allied and associated powers at a later date. In the eastern part (the line) passing just east of Bleiburg crosses the Drave just above its confluence with the Lavant, and thence will pass north of the Drave, so as to leave to the Serb-Croat-Slovene state Marburg and Radkersburg, just to the north of which latter place it will join the Hungarian frontier facing Hungary, remain unchanged.

"Europe The high contracting parties recognize and accept the frontiers of Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary, Poland, Rumania, the Serb-Croat-Slovene state and the Czechoslovak state as at present or as ultimately determined. Austria renounces in favor of principal allied and associated powers all her rights and title over territories formerly belonging to her, which, the outside the new frontiers of Austria, have not at present been assigned to any state undertaking to accept the settlement to be made in regard to these territories.

"The Czechoslovak state." "Austria recognizes the complete independence of the Czechoslovak state including the autonomous territory south of the Carpathians, in conformity with the action already taken by the allied and associated powers.

"The exact boundary between Austria and the new state is to be fixed by a field commission of seven members before nominated by the principal allied and associated powers, and one each by Austria and Czechoslovakia. Czechoslovakia agrees to embody in a treaty with the principal allied and associated powers such provisions as may be deemed necessary to protect racial, religious or linguistic minorities and to assure freedom of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of other nations.

RENOUNCES RIGHTS.

"The Serb-Croat-Slovene state." "Austria similarly recognizes the complete independence of the Serb-Croat-Slovene state and renounces her rights and titles.

"A similarly appointed field commission, including a member nominated by the Serb-Croat-Slovene state is to fix the boundary. The question of the basin of Klagenfurt is reserved. The Serb-Croat-Slovene state agrees to a similar treaty for the protection of minorities and freedom of transit.

"Rumania: Rumania agrees to a similar treaty for the protection of minorities and freedom of transit.

TREATY ABROGATION.

"Austria is to consent to the abrogation of the treaties of 1839, by which Belgium was established as a neutral state and her frontiers fixed, and to accept in advance any convention which the allies may determine to replace them. Austria adheres to the abrogation of the neutrality of the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg and accepts in advance all international agreements as to it, reached by the allied and associated powers. Austria accepts all the arrangements, which the allied and associated powers make with Turkey and Bulgaria with reference to any rights, privileges or interest claimed in those countries by Austria or by her nationals and not dealt with elsewhere. Austria accepts all arrangements with the allied and associated powers made with Germany concerning the territories whose abandonment was imposed upon Denmark by the treaty of 1864.

"In a series of special clauses, Austria undertakes to bring her institutions into conformity with the principles of liberty and justice and acknowledges that the obligations for the protection of minority peoples are matters of international concern over which the league of nations has jurisdiction. She assures complete protection of life and liberty to all inhabitants of Austria, without distinction of birth, nationality, language, race or religion, together with the right to the free exercise of any creed.

EQUALITY OF NATION LS.

"All Austrian nationals, without distinction of race, language or religion, are to be equal before the law. No restrictions are to be imposed on the free use of any language in private or public and reasonable facilities are to be given Austrian nationals of non-German speech for the use of their language before the courts.

"Austrian nationals, belonging to racial, religious or linguistic minorities, are to enjoy the same protection as other Austrian nationals, in particular with regard to schools and other educational establishments and in districts where a considerable proportion of Austrian nations of other than German speech are resident, facilities are to be given in schools for the instruction of children in their own language and an equitable share of public funds is to be provided for the purpose. These provisions do not preclude the Austrian government from making the teaching of German obligatory. They are to be embodied in Austria in her fundamental law as a bill of rights and provisions regarding them are to be under the protection of the league of nations.

"Outside Europe, Austria renounced all rights, titles and privileges as to her own or her allies' territories to all the allied and associated powers and undertakes to accept whatever measures are taken by the principal allied powers in relation thereto.

"The clauses as to Egypt, Morocco, China and Siam are identical after the necessary modifications with those of the German treaty except that especially in the case of China, there is no need for so many details.

"The military clauses are reserved.

SURRENDER OF NAVY.

"Naval: "All Austro-Hungarian warships, once in Graham's ice cream submarines and vessels of the Danube flotilla, are to be finally surrendered to the principal allied and associated powers.

"Twenty-one specified auxiliary cruisers are to be disarmed and treated as merchant ships.

"All warships and submarines under construction in ports which belong or have belonged to Austria-Hungary shall be broken up, the salvage not to be used except for industrial purposes, and not to be sold to foreign countries. The construction or acquisition of any submarines even for commercial purposes, is forbidden. All naval arms, ammunition and other war material belonging to Austria-Hungary at the date of the armistice, shall be surrendered to the allies.

AERO SERVICE

"The Austrian wireless station at Vienna is not to be used for naval, military or political messages relating to Austria or her late allies without the consent of the allied and associated governments during three months, but only for commercial purposes under supervision. During the same period, Austria is not to build any more high power wireless stations.

"Air clauses: "Austria may have no military or naval air forces, including dirigibles, must demobilize all existing forces within two months and must surrender to the principal powers wide categories of aviation material.

"Austria agrees not to accredit or send any military, naval or air mission to any foreign country, nor to allow Austrian nationals to enlist in the army, navy or air service of any foreign powers.

"Part seven, on penalties, corresponds with the German treaty, except for the omission of any provision similar to that calling for the trial of the ex-kaiser of Germany, and the addition of a provision requiring the new states to help prosecute and punish any of their nationals so guilty.

"Part eight, on reparations and part nine on financial clauses, are reserved.

"Part ten on economic clauses are, except in certain details, such as shipping, similar to those of the German treaty. Special provisions are added, however, for former Austro-Hungarian nationals acquiring allied nationality, similar to those in the German treaty relating to inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine. Their contracts are maintained subject to cancellation by their government. Austria undertakes to recognize any agreement or convention made by the allies to safeguard the interests of their nationals in any undertakings constituted under Austro-Hungarian law which operates in territory detached from the former Austro-Hungarian empire and to transfer any necessary documents and information in regard to them.

FREEDOM OF TRANSIT

"The causes as to freedom of transit are the same in the Austrian as in the German treaty, except for the omission of provisions affecting Germany alone and the insertion of specific clauses granting Austria transit privileges thru former Austro-Hungarian territory in order to assure her access to the Adriatic.

"Part 14 on miscellaneous provisions, are, after necessary substitutions, virtually identical with those of the German treaty. The treaty is to come into force when signed by Austria and three principal powers, and to be effective for the individual states on the deposit of their specific ratifications.

HAVE RIGHT TO PROBE

WASHINGTON — Supreme court Monday decided that the New York federal courts have the legal rights to inquire into the expenditures of Truman Newberry in his primary campaign against Henry Ford for the Republican nomination for senator from Michigan.

Now you can notice a big difference in Graham's ice cream

DEPARTMENTS OF CITY FILE THEIR COST ESTIMATES

Preliminary Budgets Will be Taken up by Commission When All In Preliminary estimated budgets for the year 1920 are being prepared by the various city departments, the safety department, public health fund, and election board figures having been presented to D. L. Rupert, city auditor.

It will cost $120,610 to operate the safety department for the year 1920, according to the figures submitted by Director Gale, and this figure is conservative according to the actual cost of operation for the present year.

Fire department expenditures are the heaviest of this class, being $66,914, as estimated. Police follows with $48,445. Other estimates are directors department, including clerk, incidentals, etc., totaling $2,260, work house relief, $1,100, fire alarm service $700, outdoor relief $750, police telephone service, $441.

The public health department expenses are estimated to be $11,540. The Clinic expenses of $1,700 for nurse and supplies, being the only new additions to this department.

A. J. Morris, clerk of the board of elections, has filed his estimated budget for the year 1920, showing $6,590 for expenses. He also estimated that a special election costs $3,350.

When all the various budgets are filed, they will be submitted to the budget commission for revision and cut. The county auditor, county treasurer and county prosecutor compose this committee which has the power to revise all tentative estimates.

KILLS HIS SWEETHEART, THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

AKRON — John Jakubinski shot and killed his sweetheart, Marie Cherenta, 15, and then committed suicide Sunday afternoon. Jealousy prompted the deed. The shooting occurred near Summit Beach Park in the presence of more than a score of persons. Their families recently came here from Cambridge, Ohio.

ATTORNEY DIES SUDDENLY

COLUMBUS — Frank E. Pomerene, 51, Coshocton attorney and trustee of the Ohio State University, who was visiting in Columbus, died suddenly Sunday afternoon, following an asthmatic attack. The body was taken to Coshocton Monday morning. Pomerene was a cousin of Senator Pomerene.

MAY DECIDE COUNTRY-WIDE WIRE STRIKE DATE LATER

WASHINGTON — Arriving in Washington from Montreal Monday morning, President S. J. Koenig, camp of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, announced a nation-wide walk-out of wire workers Monday as a result of the discharge of two Atlanta telephone workers.

"The Atlanta situation is a local one," said Koenig. "While we will call out all our wire workers in that city, if the girls are not reinstated Monday, and while the situation there may be the prelude of the bigger strike pending, the date for that bigger strike has not yet been set."

NOTICE

L. O. O. M. House Committee will give an entertainment Tuesday evening, June 3rd, at their lodge room. All Moose and families invited. Plenty of refreshments, music. Free.

Not a very long one, to be sure, but an advertisement.

It has a most unusual purpose—to advertise advertising.

The message is this:—

Don't miss the advertisements in The Sunday News.

Many of them make good reading just from the news and educational standpoint alone.

But more than that:—

Advertisements keep you in touch with the world's progress.

They point the path to little comforts that were unknown in the old days.

They announce the latest styles and tell you where to go to get the most and the best for your money.

They help you save.

They protect you from fraud.

THE HOUSEWIFE & HER BUSINESS

ICELESS REFRIGERATOR USEFUL
WHEN THERE ARE ICELESS DAYS

Iceless Refrigerator in Operation

Jack Frost has been depended on by many people in northern States to furnish them with the larger part of their ice supply. But last winter Jack went on a strike for many days, and country districts will experience difficulty in obtaining even a limited amount of artificial ice. Where ice is not obtainable an iceless refrigerator, home-made, will be found useful to keep meat, fruit and vegetables cool. It will extend the keeping period for milk and butter and serve also as a cooler for drinking water.

In homes where large quantities of milk and butter are to be kept, it would be well to have one refrigerator for milk and butter, and another for other foods, as milk and butter readily absorb odors from other foods. It costs very little to build the refrigerator and nothing to operate it. The U. S. Department of Agriculture tells how to make it.

Construction of Iceless Refrigerator
A wooden frame is made with dimensions 42 by 16 by 14 inches, and is covered with screen wire, preferably the rustless type, which costs little more than the ordinary kind. The door, made to fit closely and mounted on brass hinges, can be fastened with a wooden latch. The bottom is fitted solid, but the top should be covered with screen wire. Adjustable shelves can be made of solid wood or strips or sheets of galvanized metal. Shelves made of poultry netting on light wooden frames, as shown in the illustration, are probably the most desirable. These shelves rest on side braces placed at desired intervals. A bread baking pan, 14 by 16 inches, is placed on the top and the frame rests in a 17-inch by 18-inch pan.

All of the woodwork, the shelves and the pans should receive two coats of white paint and one or two coats of white enamel. This makes an attractive surface and one that can be easily kept clean. The screen wire may also receive the coats of enamel, which will prevent it from rusting. A cover of cotton flannel, burlap, shown in the illustration, is as simple as its construction. The lowering of temperature inside the refrigerator depends upon the evaporation of water. To change water from a liquid to a vapor, or to bring about evaporation requires heat. As evaporation takes place heat is taken from the inside of the refrigerator, thereby lowering the temperature of the inside and the contents.

Keep the upper pan filled with water. The water is drawn by capillary attraction through the wicks and saturates the cover. Capillary action starts more readily if the cover is first dampened by dipping it into water or throwing water upon it with the hand. The greater the rate of evaporation the lower the temperature which can be secured; therefore the refrigerator works best when rapid evaporation takes place. When the refrigerator is placed in a shady place in a strong breeze and the air is warm and dry, evaporation goes on continuously and rapidly and the temperature inside the refrigerator is reduced. Under ideal conditions the temperature has been known to be reduced to 50 degrees F. When the air is damp the refrigerator will not work as well, since there is not enough evaporation. More water will find its way to the lower pan, but it will be drawn up into the cover by capillary attraction when the air becomes drier.

Care of Refrigerator
The refrigerator should be regularly cleaned and sunned. If the framework, shelves, and pans are white enameled they can more easily be kept in a sanitary condition. It is well to have two covers, so that a fresh one can be used each week and the soiled one washed and sunned.

or duck is made to fit the frame. Put the smooth side out if cotton flannel is used. It will require about three yards of material. This cover is buttoned around the top of the frame and down the side on which the door is hinged, using buggy hooks and eyes or large-headed tacks and eyelets worked in the material. On the front side arrange the hooks on the top of the door instead of on the frame and also fasten the cover down the latch side of the door, allowing a wide hem of the material to overlap the place where the door closes. The door can then be opened without unbuttoning the cover. The bottom of the cover should extend down into the lower pan. Four double strips, which taper to 8 or 10 inches in width, are sewed to the upper part of the cover. These strips form wicks that dip over into the upper pan.

The dimensions given make a refrigerator of convenient size for household use and one with efficient evaporating surface, but it is not necessary to follow strictly these dimensions. If a larger capacity is desired, the height of the refrigerator can be increased.

FAMOUS CHORISTERS ARE COMING HERE FOR CONCERT

Musical lovers of Lima will be treated to a novelty on Tuesday evening, June 24, when the famous Paulist Choristers, under the directorship of Father Finn, will appear at the Memorial Hall. Father Finn at an early age showed musical ability and became a composer at fifteen. His exceptional powers of training voices and his magnetic power to bring out proper appreciation of the contents of the vocalizations, have made him recipient of many honors. The Paulist Choristers have appeared in the principal cities of the United States, Europe and Canada.

THE PROGRAM IS ONE THAT COVERS A VERY WIDE RANGE OF ECCLESIASTICAL AND SECULAR NUMBERS.

The arrangements are in charge of Rev. Father Tobin and it is expected to be one of the greatest musical events ever given in Lima. DENIES GUILT
Guy Miller, 23, who gives his residence as north Cole street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in police court Monday morning. Police claim he participated in a free-for-all fight at McCutcheon Park on Memorial Day. Three others were fined in connection with the affair several days ago. Graham's is the leading ice cream.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS WANT ROAD COMPLETED

County commissioners Monday morning asked that the completion of the paving of the Ottawa road be made thru the efforts of the state advisory board. Work which started on the road in June 1918 was abandoned after the construction of one half of the proposed 11 miles of the highway, contracted for by a Collins contractor. Since this time the commissioners say the work has been delayed. Officials of the state board are being asked to bring the matter to the attention of the state highway commission. The original contract provided for laying of brick the entire distance.

WILL PROBE HIGH COST WASHINGTON — Sweeping investigation of high cost of living causes will be undertaken by the senate agriculture committee of the new congress.

The government wheat corporation, headed by Julius Barnes, which handled millions of dollars worth of wheat and flour during the war, will come in for scrutiny soon, Republican senators said Monday. WEMMER UNDER CARE
Henry G. Wemmer, the popular cigar king, banker and philanthropist, is confined to his west Market street home, from an old complaint. Mr. Wemmer may be laid up a week and at times suffers severely.

BONDS ARE ALL THE TALK NOW AT CITY HALL

Many Important Measures to Come Before Council at Tonight's Meeting

Neither council members, city officials nor anyone else, know exactly what is on the slate for tonight's council meeting.

From a survey of suggestions as to important points to be brought up at the meeting, gathered from council members and officials, the following list gives an idea of what is in store for spectators, and the city's advancement.

The Metcalf street bridge question, Boulevard lighting system, one man street cars, Albert street paving, river retaining wall and other matters.

Actually it is stated that but few of the important points will be handled, and the Metcalf Bridge proposition will be voted on. A resolution deeming it necessary to issue bonds for the city's share of this work will be put before council. The amount estimated by Engineer Miller is approximately $26,000, $13,000 being the county's share. There is no reason, claim officials, why the work cannot proceed after the customary publication of the improvement plan.

Estimates on the cost of the retaining walls yet to be built, as part of the original river improvement, will be made to council. It is likely that bonds will have to be issued for this work, as there is but $13,000 left in the river improvement fund, and but little of the retaining walls yet to be built, as part of the original river improvement, will be made to council. It is likely that bonds will have to be issued for this work, as there is but $13,000 left in the river improvement fund, and but little of the retaining walls yet to be built, as part of the original river improvement, will be made to council.

The Metcalf street viaduct over the Lake Erie and Western railroad tracks, is approaching a reality. The railroad officials advise that they will have the plans and estimates ready to submit to the city within a few days. Finance again figures first, and just how the city will raise its necessary portion is not known. More bonds, probably, say officials.

The street car and boulevard lighting proposition will probably lay for another fortnight. The engineer from Columbus who was to make an estimate and survey of the lighting system to be installed in the city, has made any report as yet, and he has had several weeks' time. It was suggested, however, that he was expected to make a report, either in person, or by proxy, at Monday night's meeting.

Councilmen are loath to discuss the street car proposition and the lights separately. That they are both connected with the Ohio Electric, makes it more advantageous, they say, to handle them together, when they are ready for further legislation.

The ordinance to proceed on the Albert street improvement should be passed at Monday's meeting, suggested council members. Property owners are urging that the matter be given stimulus, and the necessary legislation will be prepared to get this work started.

VAN WERT MAN BURNED WHEN TRUCK IS UPSET

VAN WERT—Sam Ackon, a driver for the Van Wert Automobile line, was badly injured when a truck which he was driving from Grover Hill to Van Wert became uncontrollable, went into a ditch and caught on fire. He for Ackon could get out of the truck but was severely burned about the face and arms, besides suffering numerous bruises and cuts.

NEW PRESIDENT IS PROCLAIMED BY THE MEXICAN REBELS

Gen. Felipe Angeles has been proclaimed provisional president of Mexico by the faction opposing President Carranza. Angeles was considered by the U. S. government at the time of the Niagara Falls conference the best selection for the Mexican presidency.

PEOPLE OF GERMANY NO LONGER WORRIED BY STRIKE EACH DAY

BERLIN—Never let a day go by without a new strike or revolution, seems to be the motto in Germany. Something blows off somewhere every day—some days almost every hour. Some groups have been on strikes several times since the first of the year.

It is easy to find something that will serve as an excuse for a strike. Wages are not the only things, nor are shorter hours the latest in motives for striking. "Sympathy" has been the most popular reason given out by strike leaders.

"Sympathy" covers a lot, when it is used to cause strikes. There have been strikes for sympathy with a man, sympathy with politics, sympathy with a movement, and "sympathy with another strike." The latter works any day, any hour, since there are neither without some strike somewhere to sympathize with.

Political strikes are becoming the rage. Formerly it was said that political reasons were not sufficient for just for strikers. A change of opinion has come. If you strike for political reasons you refuse to work because you want the government overthrown.

People are losing their fear of strikes and disorders. Even the government has adopted the popular view, and does not worry about strikes that do not directly threaten the cabinet, politically.

ALLEGED POCKET PICKER RELEASED ON BOND

George Williams, 30, Toledo, arrested on a charge of pocket-picking, and who has been confined in the county jail for six weeks was released on bond in the sum of $500 Monday.

Williams was arrested thru the efforts of Daniel Staupp, 14, when he followed Williams from the Western Ohio station to the Lima House where he is said to have seen him dispose of a wallet containing $150 which it is alleged was taken from John Mayers, near Lima, when he was about to board a car at the interurban depot.

BLAZE IN GARAGE

Oil and Gasoline Ignited by Smoker's Match

Four hose companies, two engine companies and one aerial truck crew responded to an alarm at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon when fire was discovered in the White Mountain Creamery company's garage, east Wayne street.

An employee who had finished lighting a cigarette threw the match to the floor igniting oil and gasoline. A flash succeeded the act and other employees attempted to smother the fire until the arrival of the firemen.

No report of injuries to anyone in connection with the garage was made.

SEVEN NURSES WILL GET DIPLOMAS THIS EVENING

VAN WERT—Commencement exercises will be held for the first class of nurses ever graduated from the training school of the Van Wert county hospital, Tuesday evening. The training school was established three years ago when the hospital was opened up and the class this year is the first to complete the work. Seven nurses will receive their diplomas. The commencement will be held at the Y. W. C. A.

HUSBAND CHARGES WIFE LEFT HIM AFTER 3 DAYS

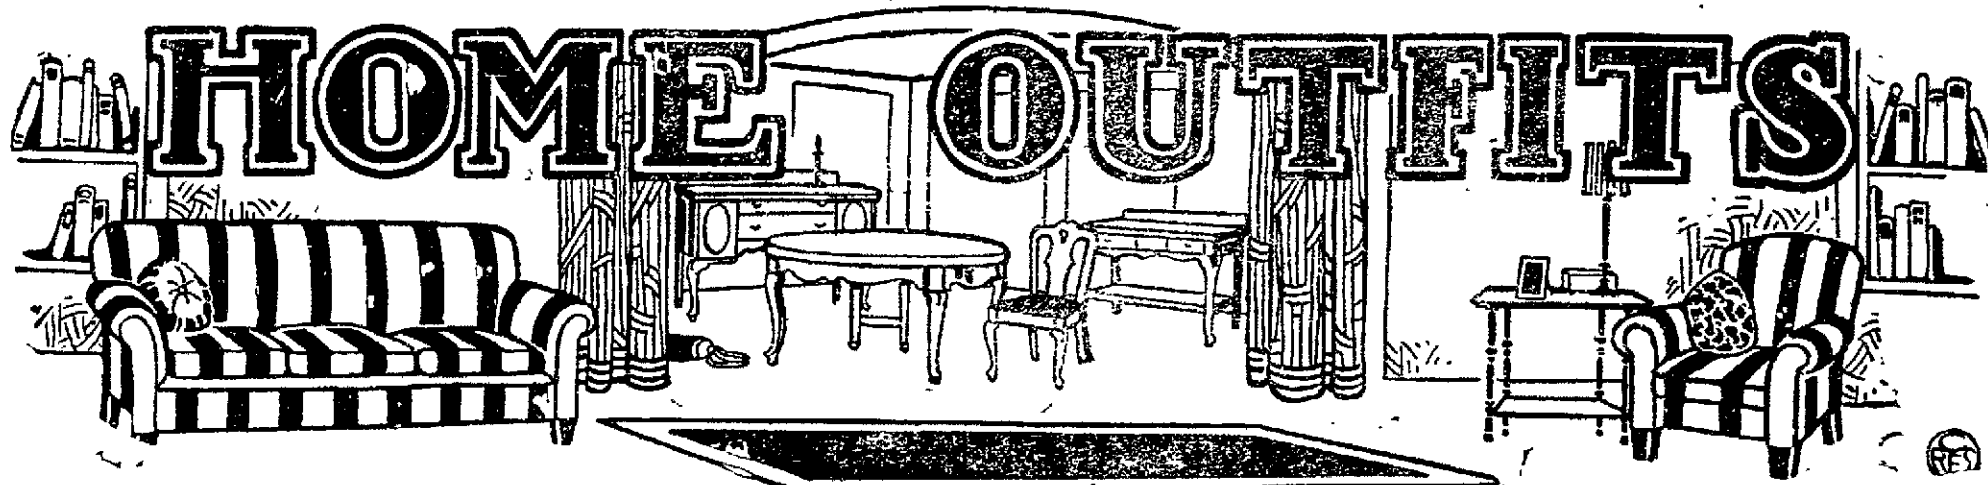

Charging that she refused to live with him after three days succeeding their marriage at Covington, Ky. on December 6, 1918, Frank P. Green filed suit for divorce in common pleas court Monday afternoon. He also alleges that she refused to come to Lima where he was employed, altho all arrangements to that effect were made prior to their marriage.

ADMIT GAMBLING

Two Are Fined $50 Each When Pleas Are Changed

A. K. Vall and Tony Zender, recently indicted by the April grand jury on a gambling charge, appeared Monday in common pleas court and pleaded guilty. Judge Kling fined each $50 and ordered them pay the costs of prosecution. Trial by jury was dispensed with when they entered their pleas. The action is the outcome of complaints of Chris High, who now has a civil suit for $1,100 damages pending in police court in which seeks to recover for losses said to have been sustained in a gambling place alleged to have been conducted by Vall and Zender in Uhlman hotel. L. E. Stamets is also named defendant in the suit when High charged him with being the owner of the building.

Ribbon and lace have come into their own again. Fashion decides that these articles shall be factors in smart attire. It is quite natural that midsummer will see these lovely materials for woman's dress quite at the height of their popularity, for they fit in so splendidly with the dainty and feminine dress that predominates once more after our period of uniforms.

A real midsummer hat for a real summer girl, as dainty as dainty millinery materials can make it. In this illustration the modish use of horsehair is shown, together with lace, figured georgette, ribbon velvet and colorful daisies and others of the so-called common variety of flowers.

Foulards and printed effects on soft-finished taffeta were long since reported as within fashion's realm this spring, and now that summer is here frocks of these lovely materials are much in evidence. Some of the smartest are veiled with georgette, like this one, and are effectively beaded as well.

—Photograph by Joel Feder.

Just a simple frock of white georgette, gracefully draped and devoid of trimming save for the ribbon girdle and the tiny ruffles of the georgette. The smart hat is a plain sailorlike shape, made most interesting by its trimming of glycerian ostrich. The parasol is white taffeta.

of both plain and figured voile is very smart and drop stitch check voiles in exquisite pastel colors are among these novelties.

Lingerie seems to get more colorful as midsummer arrives, so that by autumn it is predicted there will be little, if any, white lingerie in smart vogue. Jade green is said to be the latest and most vivid color added to the already unusual color range of modern lingerie.

The predominating fabric for autumn will unquestionably be duvety, in both the silk and wool fabrics.

Duvety suits, it is said, will be the first choice of smart women.

Batik decorations in all their high colorful effects will unquestionably be seen to a great extent in autumn blouses, overblouses and negliges of all kinds.

Wool fringe on overblouses of satin is an autumn novelty and makes a most effective and smart trimming.

The return of both lace and ribbon to fashion's favor leads to the thought that we may see a return to favor of the blouses and negliges of other days that were developed by a combination of lace and ribbon, giving a stripe effect that was most pleasing.

The bodice made entirely of ribbon is a feature of midsummer dance frocks, combined with skirts of either net, both silk and cotton; organdie, voile, lace and georgette.

American stage producers are more and more making use of high-class American designers, with the ultimate result that we may be able to glimpse coming modes and determine with more assurance from seeing these in action, as it were, what particular lines will be best for us to accept as individuals.

Guimpes and chemisettes are of extreme daintiness, net being the foundation of all the latest models. Trimmed frequently with valenciennes and venise, they are sometimes made entirely of either of these laces.

The demand for ostrich plumes is steadily growing, especially as a trimming on large hats, and it is said that this demand will not decrease as autumn advances, for plume trimming fits in with the present style silhouette.

By EDITH M. BURTIS

NOW when one has just about completed the summer outfit and is anticipating the pleasant use of it, rumors of what will be fashionable this coming autumn would seem to persist, just apparently to make us long for what we have not.

This may rightly be designated as trade propaganda, a plan to incite desire, to play on the very human weakness of both sexes, to want what we do not possess.

There is nothing mean or unfair in this method. It is the natural one of trade generally, and even in the higher phases of life we know there must always be incentive to inspire, to encourage, to achieve.

News of a coming season's fashions is like hay before the horse. It makes us keep up the very necessary interest in clothes, makes us study our individual requirements, develop our judgment, cultivate a greater knowledge of color and fabric, appreciate lines and aim to realize fully that clothes, the right clothes are a serious problem of life, not a foolish gratification of style desire.

So, gray, do not decry fashion's methods. The automobile manufacturers use the same plan as do most folks in trade with tangible wares to sell.

The thing to do is to accept these advance rumors, this trade propaganda, as but useful information to be used to your advantage when the time comes to buy new clothes.

Don't let fashion rumors of what is to come disturb your pleasure in the wearing of your summer outfit. Don't let advance showing of autumn models make you dissatisfied with your pretty summer wardrobe.

Study the details of these new things and be forearmed by foregone decision just what and which of the new fashions are right for you.

And don't fret and, fretting, let the hot weather get the better of you, believing that autumn fashions will be radically different from summer fashions and will therefore require a complete change of all your clothes possessions.

The day of radical fashion changes is gone, never to return, I am sure, now and hereafter. I am positive one fashion is but a gradual progress to or from another, a logical, sane and natural development, one from the other.

And we do not now and never will again, it is predicted, have any season when one mode shall be the vogue to the seclusion of all other modes.

Women's understanding of the charming advantage of individuality in dress has killed any such foolish procedure for all time.

You notice I tell you frequently of fashions here and coming, intermingling one note with the other. This is the way to accept fashions, for all present fashions have a bearing on future fashions and you cannot and should not draw a sharp line between them.

And remember this, that upon women's acceptance of present fashions always depends largely the trend of fashions to come. Can't you see and see plainly, too, that when all is said and done, it is really up to us whether we have sane clothes or not, beautiful, useful, practical clothes, or conglomerations of freak colors and bad lines?

It is not up to the manufacturer or the store whether new clothes of any season shall be right or wrong: they will make and sell the things they are most reasonably sure we will buy. Remember, demand always controls supply.

Just taboo the freak things as soon as they appear, and I assure you they will not put in a second appearance. Folks in trade like to make and handle the simple and the beautiful, and the beautifully simple and the simply beautiful, but their very life in trade depends upon their making and handling what you and I will buy.

Fashions Here and Coming

MIDSUMMER blouses of French origin are with few exceptions ribbon trimmed. Not only those of silk, but those of cotton as well as ribbon trimmed and ribbon velvet is used extensively, although taffeta and faille and some satin ribbons are to be seen.

Autumn silks are interestingly new in color and in detail of design. An acorn design and an oak leaf pattern are to be had in a variety of colors as well as in their natural coloring.

Bouquet designs of simple field flowers in their natural colors, daisies, poppies and cornflowers on vivid grounds, such as yellow and green and on the ever conservative navy blue, are among the other novelty patterns.

The brown and tan shades are said to be much in evidence for autumn coats and suits. As usual midnight and navy blue will be in vogue and there is strong reason to believe that a lighter color of blue will be used quite extensively, that which is known as steel blue.

The French designers are sponsors for all sorts of embroidery on midsummer and autumn blouses. Floss, chenille worked, beads and ribbonlike embroidery all are being used by them.

Wide ribbon is cleverly used by a French designer to form a smart little sleeveless coat for a frock of georgette, showing beyond argument the wonderful possibilities of ribbon so long in disuse.

A rich and lovely sport silk of American origin was employed to make this smart midsummer skirt. This same silk combined with angora developed the chic sport hat. The blouse is georgette embroidered in silk soutache. Every article of this modish costume is white, save the neck bow, which is of black, with a harmonizing note in the clocks of the white silk hose.

Despite the extensive vogue of metal brocades, these rich and elaborate fabrics are among the favorites for autumn. In color the newest metal brocades of American origin are in white, black, green, taupe, tan, cerise and Copenhagen blue. These are to be had in gold and in silver and some interesting new patterns introduce both gold and silk metal threads.

It is hinted that covert cloth will bid for favor this autumn, in the form of smart top coats for general wear.

Satin fabrics are said to be in great demand by dress manufacturers now working on autumn models, and this leads to the thought that satin will be much in evidence this coming season.

Organdies and nets are made up into most exquisite midsummer frocks, suitable because of their simple loveliness for almost any afternoon and evening use for the young girl. Ribbon girdles predominate on these youthful frocks.

Reports from Paris have it that Hudson seal is not included in French modes for autumn, but natural squirrel, kolinsky and caracul are to be found as trimmings.

Blouses entirely of net, without lace of any description, but trimmed with tiny bits of ribbon bows, are refreshingly dainty and interestingly new.

Voile as an undergarment fabric is steadily coming to the front. Lingerie

This lovely dance or dinner dress is just the thing for warm-weather use, for there is a decidedly pretty look of cool comfort about it. Besides, the effect of butterfly daintiness is most pleasing. Silver lace and silk net of a refreshingly pale and exquisite green are delightfully combined.

JAPAN MENACES AMERICA'S TRADE EXPERT ASSERTS

Bronner Points Out Valuable Lesson U. S. Learned From The War

Fight on for World Button Trade and Silk Supremacy Endangered

WASHINGTON—Out of the war has come a great lesson, and as an aftermath, a mighty benefit to America. Submarine warfare and the blockades struck at the heart of world trade, causing many readjustments. Pressed by necessity, America laid the basis for wide peace time commerce. But involved in the whole question is the problem of tariff.

Japan today stands as America's most formidable competitor. Whether America can compete with this and other nations will be put to Congress in demands for changed tariffs.

Here are highlights in the situation.

FIGHT FOR WORLD BUTTON TRADE.

Buttons, buttons, who's got buttons?"

It was asked all over America when the great war broke out.

"We've got plenty of buttons but we can't send them over," said Germany and Austria.

"We're busy making shells now," said England.

"We'll just make them ourselves," said America.

And we did. And just when we got going strong, in stepped the little brown man from Japan with millions of buttons.

But just the same, the button industry in this country received a great impetus. We soon had 517 button factories employing 15,760 persons whose total earnings amounted to over $8,000,000 a year and whose annual output was valued at $20,711,979.

Japan had 120 factories in 1904. By 1915 this number had gone up to 763. In 1912 Japan sold us $28,057 worth of shell buttons. In 1913 she sold us $770,849 or nearly 27 times as much.

Taking a certain kind of pearl button our manufacturers claim the cost of 100 gross of American pearl buttons laid down for business in this country is $65.34. On the other hand the cost of the Japanese buttons, even after the present duty is paid on them, is only $25.21.

As a result the American manufacturers will come before Congress and ask for a higher tariff.

JAP SILK INDUSTRY MENACES U. S.

The United States is the largest consumer of raw silk in the world, the largest consumer of manufactured silk products in the world and the largest producer of woven silk fabrics.

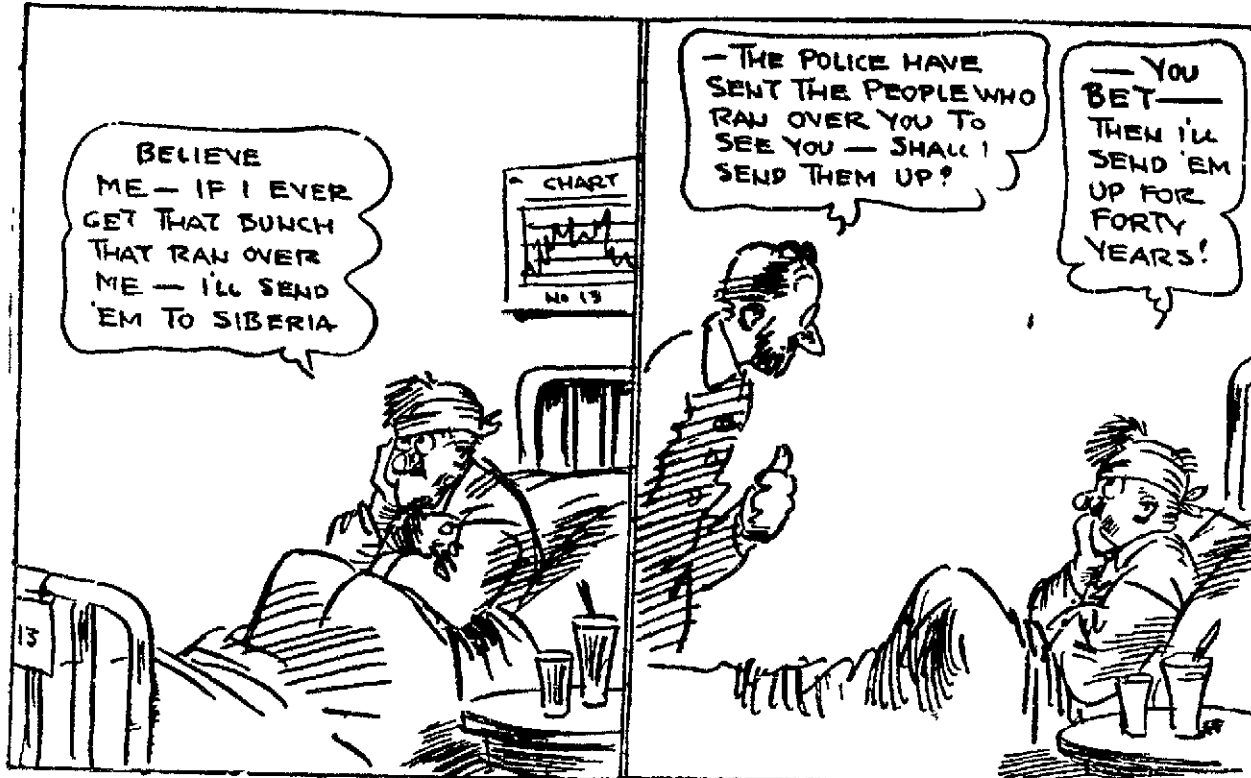

As a result of this widespread manufacture of silk goods this country is way in the lead in consumption of raw silk with China second, France third and Japan fourth.

We buy 80 per cent of all the raw silk that Japan exports, and the rest that we need we get from China and Italy.

On the whole, we buy the best grades while the interior raw silks are left to be manufactured by countries where labor is cheap. One in every four homes in Japan is engaged in the cultivation of the silk worm.

One result of the war was to accentuate the position of the United States as the silk manufacturing center of the world. It also resulted in stimulating Japan and China

PETEY DINK—They Can Hit Petey Any Time

By C. A. VOIGHT

to greater manufactures of silk. The war brought about very few new branches of the silk industry in this country, because we were already making pretty nearly everything that could be economically produced.

But since the war began the Japanese exports of habutai silk and of crepe de chine and the Chinese exports of pongees into this country have greatly increased.

Furthermore, the Japs have begun to discard their old hand looms and to install modern American silk machinery.

It is because of the fear of this modernized Jap silk industry that American manufacturers will ask for a revision of the tariff.

NIPPON CUTS IN ON BRUSH TRADE

Over half the toothbrushes made in the world are used here.

In England less than 10 per cent of the people use them. In Germany considerably more. In France less.

But there are only about four tooth brush factories in this country and they make only the more expensive grades.

On the contrary, when it comes to hair brushes, it is the expensive grades that are imported from Europe. In the cheaper grades American goods give the imported cheap articles a tough run of it.

In this country there are 359 factories making brushes of various kinds. They employ over 7000 people and their output is valued at nearly $18,000,000 per annum.

The industry profited by the war because European competition was largely eliminated.

With the approach of peace-time conditions however, the brush industry, especially as regards all kinds of toilet brushes, is going to ask Congress for tariff protection.

It is Japan that is feared more than any country in Europe. The people of Nippon have a number of big advantages:

Cheap labor, control of the world's camphor supply; closeness to Russia, Siberia, China, and India, the principal sources of bristles.

How Japan has entered our markets can be illustrated by a few figures. In 1913 she sent us 647,235 dozen of tooth brushes.

By 1917 81 per cent of our total imports of brushes came from Japan.

The makers of toilet brushes are going to ask Congress to levy a specific duty against such imports.

HIGHER TARIFF ON INSTRUMENTS

One of the lessons which the war brought home to us with stunning force was this:

We have some of the greatest surgeons in the world, we have a population which submits to more surgical operations than any other in the world and this country has the largest body of medical men on the globe—something between 130,000 and 140,000.

Yet, in spite of this, we made something less than 20 per cent of our surgical instruments.

The balance came chiefly from Germany, with France supply a few delicate cutting instruments, such as eye scissors, and England sending us suture needles.

Representative retail firms in this country often carried in stock from 6000 to 7500 types of instruments, most of them imported.

The war soon caused a scarcity of these instruments and American manufacturers were called upon not only to fill the domestic needs, but also to make instruments for England and other allied warring countries.

The close of the war finds America with a greater number of men skilled in the making of these instruments than ever before, and with a large number of machines perfected for quantity production.

The chief rivals in our own markets are apt to be Germany and Japan.

To hold the lead, manufacturers will come before Congress and ask two things:

First, that surgical instruments be placed in the tariff in a class by themselves, something that has never been done heretofore, second, higher rate of duty.

LEATHER SUBSTITUTES WILL ASK A TARIFF

Look at the women in the street cars and on the avenues and chances are you will notice a great many so-called chamoisette or sueded gloves.

The war did that. It made leather gloves so expensive that the prettily and cheaper suedes came into tremendous demand.

And most of them are made in America. The war also did that.

Before the war we made very few hosiery and sueded cotton gloves. Most of the hosiery was imported and even today 50 per cent comes from Japan.

But our principal imports were sueded cotton gloves. Ninety per cent of this foreign goods came from Germany. In fact, about 1,000,000 dozen pairs were imported, coming mainly from Chemnitz, Saxony, and the nearby towns.

Soon after the war started, American manufacturers, who used to make leather and silk gloves, branched out into the sueded glove industry, realizing that Germany would be cut off.

In 1914 we only made 50,000 dozen pairs of sueded gloves at a total value of $200,000. In 1918 we made 1,300,000 dozen pairs at a value of $8,450,000.

The manufacturers claim they will need higher rates of duty so as to keep German and Japanese gloves out of this market.

JAPAN SURE TO BE TARGET

The new Congress is going to hear a great deal about a new "Japanese menace."

The old menace comprised various things—threatened inundation of the Pacific coast by Japanese coolies, immigration was not restricted, the supposedly greedy eyes they were making at the Philippines, and the naval base in Magdalena Bay, Lower California.

These things all meant a threat, perhaps, of a war of aims.

The new Japanese menace is a war of dollars.

Germany used to be our bugaboo, commercially, just as it was England's. Wherever the business man turned around, he was confronted with "Made in Germany."

The war blasted that hated sign right out of the markets, but in its place in many lines of manufacture has come a new one—"Made in Japan."

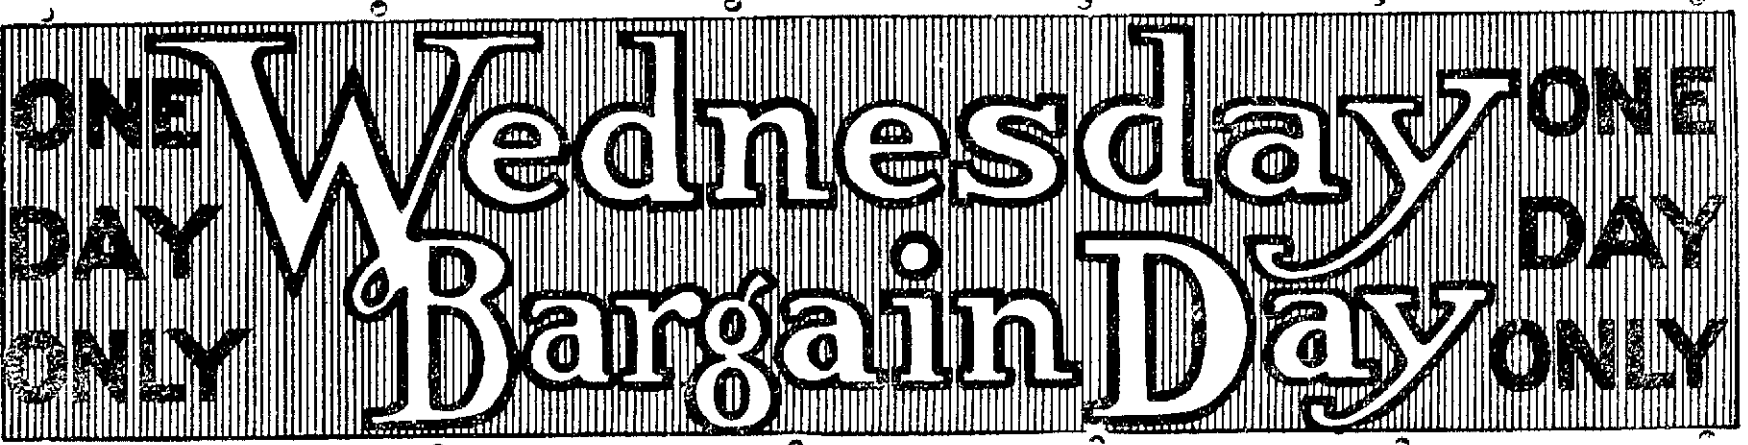

The six to 50 cents a day in vogue in many factories in Japan is ridiculous compared with our $2 to $6 per day.

This is the problem the American manufacturers who have established new industries since the war began are going to put up to Congress.

BAILED NET IS IN VOGUE AGAIN

By ELOISE.

It's back again! What? Why braided net, of course. The flappers and young debutantes will think it is something very new, but braided net was with us some six or more years ago. Yet, indeed, it was the vogue before the last siege of tight skirts. It was very very fashionable and frocks with braided net trimming were very costly to speak nothing of those which were entirely of net covered with intricate designs in braid to match, for the net was not always white, sometimes black, navy or even.

This ideal summer outfit combines braided net and linen. The net forms the blouse and the linen the tight pouch pocket skirt. The frock is built on novel lines and will be especially attractive for afternoon wear.

The hat worn with the frock adds a distinctive touch to the whole. It is a large sailor shape and is also of net, braided in a conventional design. Veils which are trimmed with braid may be purchased in white and even. This whole outfit is very striking also.

Mrs. C. C. Miller, of Lancaster, will arrive the latter part of the week to be the guest of Mrs. A. T. McDougall, of west Market street.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schroeder, of east Second street, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schroeder, in Delphos.

Miss Marguerite Krein, who has been teaching in the New Bremen schools, has returned to her home on west North street, where she will spend the summer vacation with her mother, Mrs. Robert C. Krein.

SHERIFF HAS A MYSTERY MAN

Man Picked Up in Delphos Cannot be Identified by Officials

Complete mystery surrounds the identity of Phillip Hoffman who was arrested when he was found wandering about the city of Delphos Monday and brought to Lima where he is being confined in the county jail.

Preliminary examination of the man before he entered the jail developed nothing that would lead to his positive identity. No information could be gained as to his home or the presence of any relatives or friends.

He was found in the canal city aimlessly walking the streets.

When asked by Sheriff Baxter to give the location of his home, he repeatedly answered "Number Nine." "All children" was the reply elicited when questioned about the possibility of his having a wife.

He will be given a lunacy hearing in probate court, it is said.

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

Once I had made up my mind to tell Terry nothing about the tragedy that was hanging over Betty's nervousness. My decision was made—and with it the further one that all thought of the ugly outcome of the operation on Betty's arm must be dismissed from my thoughts for the time being. That much I owed to Betty. Time enough later to grieve over the doctor's verdict; time enough later to try to help Betty reconcile herself to a useless right hand. This was the bride's day, and I must bring cheer and bright thought, to it.

It was after 8 when I came back from my walk through the pine woods. I breakfasted with the Matron of Greyfriars Hall, who seemed in a regular feminine flutter over the romantic marriage that was to take place in the pavilion, and presently Miss Moss came to tell me that I might see Betty.

The bride herself wasn't a bit flustered. She had the quiet joy and serenity of one who makes port after a stormy voyage.

"Anne," she asked blushing, "could you phone Virginia to bring me down—some—essentials?"

"Perhaps I could find your essentials in that pretty little city we went through just before we got here. Terry went back to town by train and Tony's chauffeur and car are here," I answered.

"Oh, how splendid. Promise not to laugh, but I do so want a marcel wave and a little green or orchid-color fluff to wear instead of these silly blue and pink negligees. It's odd enough to be married from a sick bed, but I don't want to wear a cap and look all invalid-like."

"I'll go," I said, turning away to hide the mist in my eyes.

Dear, dear Betty, whose besetting sin was vanity—how hard it would be for her to endure her chastening. After an hour of shopping, I returned, bringing my first gift to the bride—the loveliest piece of silvery shimmering pale green chiffon, a bit of orchid color to line it and lustrous satin ribbon to bind the edges. Betty exclaimed with joy when she saw my purchases and my triumph was complete when in through the doorway came my other "purchase," the town's best marcel-artist, whose services I had bought from the hair dressing establishment with which was left of the $25 Jim had given me the day before.

I cut and stitched and worked away at the Matron's machine while Betty was marcelled and manicured and then put gently to sleep at noon.

Terry had telephoned early in the morning and now he called again to say he was just starting off with Virginia, Tony, Jim and the minister, and that his bride might expect him by 4.

Even the sedative couldn't keep Betty asleep for long and so by three she was propped up on her pillows trying on the cloudy little robe of orchid shadowed by green I had contrived to fashion for her.

"Oh, you got her own color! Oh, my blessed lamb, you're as pretty a bride as ever I looked at," cried Miss Moss, whose tearfulness passed muster as the regular middle-aged feminine reaction to the wedding of a dear one.

"Let me see," fluttered Betty.

So we unscrewed the Mirror from the bureau and let her see her own sweetness. She didn't look like a stately green jade goddess today, but like a little wood-nymph tricked out for Spring.

Presently Spring arrived indeed. A messenger from the city came with box after box of pussy-willows and pale pink Ophelia roses and sun-lit Aaron Burr and masses of sweetness. It seemed a little strange to me that the flowers were all pale yellow or bore a breath of dawn pink. There was never a lavender sweetpea nor yet a purple pansy nor an orchid, whose colors were Betty's own.

Baskets and vases of birch-bark and straw came with the messenger and slim holders for single stems. So we made a bower for our Betty and then we tiptoed out and left her alone in it.

Not until we were out of Betty's corridor did Miss Moss venture the question that had been haunting her all day as I could guess.

"The Doctor told you?"

"Yes, Miss Moss."

"He's going to tell Captain Win-

first for skin troubles

Delay in the proper treatment of skin troubles is dangerous. Every day spent in trying unproved remedies may only let the disorder spread and become more and more deeply seated. The value of Resinol Ointment is known. For over twenty years it has been used as a soothing, healing remedy for the skin.

If applied in time, it usually checks the itching and reduces the eruption right away. But even in stubborn, long-standing cases, it is surprising, how quickly this gentle, yet effective ointment brings results.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment. Resinol tender faces find the rich lather of Resinol Shaving Stick delightfully soothing.

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

SPORT SNAP : SHOTS :

The fair contestants of the New York Women's Swimming association have again demonstrated countrywide leadership in water sports this season, as they did also in 1918. Members of the association scored the greatest number of points in the national A. A. U. aquatic indoor championships just concluded. They ran up a total of twenty points, while their closest rivals, the mermaids of the Meadowbrook club of Philadelphia and Athletic club of Columbus, Ohio, earned sixteen and fourteen points respectively.

It should be added too that these figures are somewhat misleading, for local stars were unable to attend the fifty and 220-yard title swims and the girl who won both events, Miss Bessie Ryan of the Meadowbrook club, was defeated by New York's two leaders just before she left for the coast. Miss Charlotte Boyle took her measure conclusively at 100 yards and Miss Ethelda Bleibtrey outswam her at 500 yards.

Miss Boyle garnered eleven of the points credited to the New York organization. She won the 100-yard free style swim and the plunge for distance, then took third in the 500-yard swim.

Miss Bleibtrey contributed eight points. She won the 500-yard title swim and finished second by a touch in the 150-yard back stroke contest, which saw the world's record for women lowered by two full strokes.

Little Miss Helen Wainwright, a twelve-year-old prodigy, brought the total to twenty points by taking third place in the fancy diving springboard championship, an event in which competed the ablest group of full grown candidates ever gathered together for the annual fixture. She was beaten only five points for first.

When Joe Willard and Jack Dempsey enter the ring for their twelve-round bout at Bay View Park, Toledo, Ohio, July 4, they will compete, probably, before the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a title boxing bout. This is indicated in the reports of the advance sale of tickets, which has now passed the $270,000 mark, and will probably reach $500,000.

The significance of this advance sale is best illustrated through a comparison with the receipts of the Jim Jeffries-Jack Johnson title bout at Reno back in 1910. Pugilistic attendance and financial records were created in that contest, which will be eclipsed in the forthcoming bout. The gross receipts totaled $270,777, and the match was witnessed by a crowd of 10,000 at between 14,000 and 20,000. The net was $121,000.

In the coming bout Willard will be boxing for a third sum of $100,000, and Dempsey for a prize of $27,500, a record in prize money.

Fritz Marvel, for many years with the Yankees and last season with the St. Louis Browns, has been playing third base and leading the batting order for Jack Dunn's Baltimore International. Marvel has been playing great ball this spring and critics who have seen him in action contend that the little fellow probably will be picked up by some major league club before the season is very old. Marvel is one of the real high earned players of the international circuit and he should have little difficulty in being a star in that circuit.

Edna's victory over the Grays in the 100-yard swim is a fine piece in an acceptable manner.

Rockford Hammers Pierce For 10 Hits

It took ten rounds to decide the battle at Murphy street ball park yesterday afternoon, but two bases on balls, an error and a double dropped in favor of the Rockford Maroons in the tenth and they scored the needed run.

Lima knocked them off in the second inning for three runs and it looked like a repetition of the two preceding games, but Rockford came along in the third and evened the tally. Lima scored one in the third and one in the 6th, and in the seventh the visitors brought in two runs and tied the score again.

Pitchers were very generous with their hits, passing easy balls over the plate every session. As a result both teams tallied 10 safe hits, seven of them worth two bags. It was a hit and run game, only six men striking out during the game, two Lima batters and four visitors.

The fireworks started in the second for Lima, when Egan cracked the sphere for a safe one, and took second on Costello's sacrifice. Hike and Malloy both reach first on errors, and Egan stole third. Reynolds dropped a long fly over left fielder's head and the boys passed the plate, one two, three. Pierce got on first, but Harrison and Wentz went out, closing the session.

The Rockford bunch came right back the next inning, with similar tactics. Pitcher Anderson flew out to Costello, Kennedy got a bag on Wentz' error. Black knocked a short fly to Wentz, and Kennedy took second on a passed ball. Maragi then waned on the pill for two bases, scoring Kennedy. Swenson took first on another error by Wentz, and the heavy-hitting Brown racker, the pellet for another two bagger, scoring Maragi and Swenson. Hiccup struck out.

Two baggers by both Egan and Costello in the last part of the third was good for another tally, and Hike scored a run in the sixth on Pierce safe hit.

A base on balls donated to Brown, the heavy hitter, an error by Malloy and a double by Johnson, was good for the necessary tally. Pierce gave them another base on balls, but Malloy ran back and pulled a fly down for the third out, so ending the game.

WHITE SOX INVADE EASTERN FIELD

By H. C. Hamilton
NEW YORK — The invasion of the east by the west in the American League is about to begin. The east had poor success or practically no success, at all, when it went to scrap with the American League clubs in that section. Therefore, the outcome of the approaching conflict will be watched with some nervousness by adherents of the Atlantic coast representatives. Both Yankees and Red Sox, two entrants given a look in for the pennant by the experts, were taken to a finished cleaning in their saunters westward. St. Louis have done remarkably well.

The White Sox have made practically a clean sweep of things. The Yanks have braced since setting their faces toward home, so the coming duels will not be pink teas for the traveling west.

Detroit appears ready to take some mighty neat falls out of the rest of the league.

Watching the Scoreboard

Sunday's hero—Hank O'Day. He chased three Braves to the shower all at one crack when they suggested he may have erred.
Walter Johnson had an off-day and won from the Yankees, 5 to 2, one of his few victories over the New Yorkers.
The Pirates barely nosed out the Reds in the first encounter and were mauled for a 10 to 2 beating in the second game.
Jim Vaughn pitched and batted, accounting for a Cub victory over the Cardinals, 3 to 1.
Brooklyn and Philadelphia entertained a gang for 13 innings before the Phillies finally won 10 to 9.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT

Final plans for the opening show of the Lima Athletic Club, to be staged here June 19th will be discussed at the opening meeting of the club at the Chamber of Commerce tonight.

The membership committees have been actively at work for the past few days, and the new members, together with those who desire to become members will meet at 8 o'clock and get the organization into definite final shape.

The big boxing show scheduled for the 19th, to which all members will be admitted, will see some of the fastest boxers of the country in the mat. Ever Hammer is being considered, and if Mike O'Leary, the Lima hopeful, makes a good showing with Harry McHenry at Wapakoneta, June 11th, it is likely that he will meet some prominent lightweight here, before the club

HOTEL PRICES IN TOLEDO SOARING

Bang!

Just like that—and in pretty fair imitation of a French 155 or a star shell soaring over a battlefield, Toledo hotel rates for the big, tight week have gone skyrocketing.

The minimum for accommodations at any of the principal hotels for the nights of July 3 and 4 will be at least $10 a room, or $5 a person, with no fewer than two in a room. If parties of four, six or more squeeze into the same apartment, the lowest price will be all the same—$5 each person.

The maximum prices for the better rooms and individual accommodations, if such are to be obtained at all—well, the limit is the sky.

100,000 VISITORS EXPECTED
Promoters of the Willard-Dempsey fight estimate that it will bring 100,000 visitors to Toledo. If it isn't the record crowd for Toledo, it will come close to it. Preparations for housing and feeding the sport lovers, who will be attracted here from all parts of the country, are being made only on the scale attempted when Toledo entertained the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1908, and the citizens generally were requested to open their homes to the veterans.

A sign, in bold black letters, which hangs in front of the room clerk's desk at the Hotel Secor, indicates quite definitely that room reservations for fight week are not to be had.

RESERVATIONS ARE TABOO
"Not making any promises of rooms for the fight," was the information condescended by the clerk.

"Well, if you have any rooms, what would the price be?"

"The minimum, per person, would be $5, but we are not promising to take care of any more at that figure or any other price."

At the Boody house, the story was practically the same.
"It is going to cost at least $5 a person, with no fewer than two in a room," was the full extent of information available.

HOTTY MEN TO CONFER
News that the hotel men are to meet soon, probably next week, for further consideration of the problem of reservations and the question of rates seeped out at one hotel.

The $5 and $10 minimum rates which are to prevail, are for rooms ordinarily costing transients from $1.50 to $2.50 a day, European plan, without meals.

For the better rooms, with bath, prices are not quoted. That will be a matter of individual bargaining with the landlords, clerks indicated.

YOUNG IS STAR OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Ross Young

By N. E. BROWN

Ross Young, youthful outfielder with the New York Giants, looms up right now as the flash of the National league.

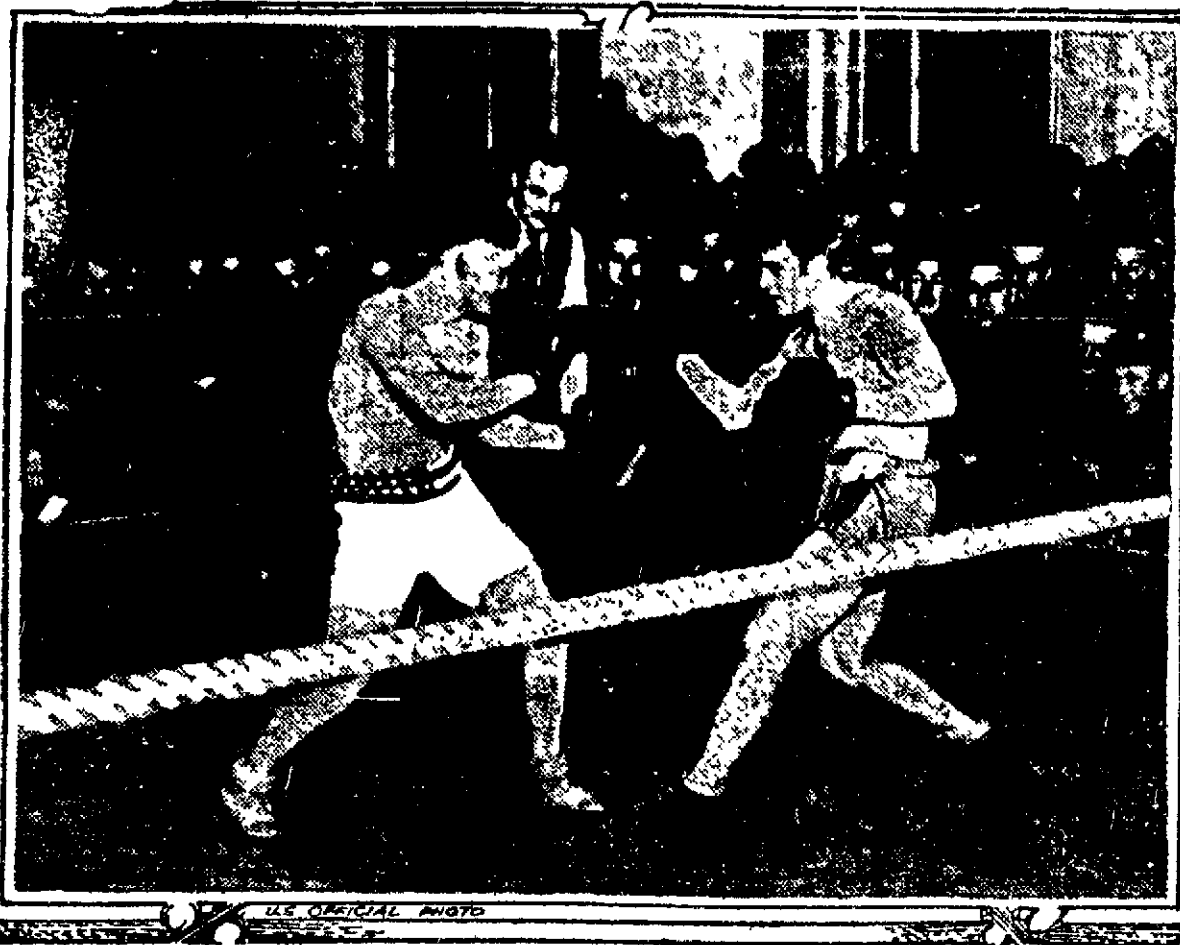

And those who have watched Ross closely in action say he is not one of the flashes that come in a pan. Ross made his bow in big league company when he reported at the Giants' training camp at Marlin, Texas, in the spring of 1917.

The critics at the camp that year predicted he would be a star some day, but the remark passed unnoticed because of the common occurrence of such predictions. The dope apparently has run true in Young's case.

He jumped into the lead in the National league batting race a while ago by a wonderful exhibition of batting. He has shown that he can hit anything to most any corner of the yard and he hits them often. When he hit .302 last season, his first full year in the big arena he showed that he was a natural hitter. Unless he slumps his average will be many points above that this season.

He has been playing right field wonderfully well. Davey Robertson, forced to watch him from the bench until sold to Pittsburgh, will admit that. His whip is true, too, which makes him all the more valuable.

How came the Giants by Ross? McGraw bought Young from the Sherman club in the Texas league in the 1916 campaign. He paid $2,500 honest dollars for the youth. He was an infielder then. When he reported to McGraw the next spring Jawns tried him out in the infield. McGraw had Balrd and Kilduff that spring so he sent Young to Rochester. Mike Donlin needed an outfielder and turned Young into one. It appeared now as the Mike has a box of cigars coming.

Young hit like a fiend and ranked second to Nap Lajoe in hitting. McGraw called him in last season.

Young is a graduate of Texas Military College and starred in the dashes on the college track team.

the best welters in the French service. The bout was a three-round affair and was staged in the Y. M. C. A. It ended in a draw. The men of the 339th are mostly from Michigan and Wisconsin.

GOVERNMENT GRANTED RIGHT TO FIX RATES

WASHINGTON—Cases involving the right of Director General of Railroads Hines and Postmaster General Burleson to set intra-state railroad ad phone rates, were decided in favor of the government by supreme court Monday.

FAVORS VOTE TO DECIDE ON WARS

Johnson Proposes Referendum Amendment to League of Nations

WASHINGTON—Senator Hiram Johnson Monday flung a challenge at league of nations advocates to amend the covenant by providing a people's referendum on all future wars.

Only by this means, declared Johnson in a speech to the senate, can the league be made a preventative of war and a league of free peoples. He plans to introduce a resolution to amend the league covenant to this end.

Bitterly denouncing the league in its present form, Johnson declared, "It is not a league of nations to prevent war; it is a league of armed nations in a gigantic war trust; not a league of peoples by a trust of present existing power."

"If those who wrote this document really wanted to prevent war, they would have permitted the men and women who must bear the burdens of war to determine by their votes whether there should be war."

BLOW CLINCHES FINGERS
ALBANY, N. Y.—Struck on the elbow by a pitched ball, Frank Galt's fingers became locked on the baseball bat and it required four men to pry them loose. Galt's arm was paralyzed about an hour by the blow.

Short Shavings

Germany's denseness in sensing the necessity for her strict compliance with the first armistice terms made one think of the banker at Weeping Water, Neb., who was asked by an impecunious former for a loan. The banker was one of those people who are deaf for commercial purposes. The farmer was chronically wanting to borrow and his security was getting shaky. "I'd like to borrow $5,000," pleaded the farmer. The banker cupped his hand behind his lame ear and said: "Speak a little louder and cut down the amount."

The sergeant major of a certain regiment was a bit of a martinet and was constantly finding fault with the slightest things. One day he was sitting in his room in the barracks and, happening to glance out the window, he saw a private pass in full uniform with a bucket. This roused the sergeant major to a fury and he promptly dashed to the door and hailed the private:

"Where are you going?"

"To fetch some water, sir," replied the man.

"What!" yelled the sergeant major, "in those trousers?"

"No, sir, in the bucket," was the reply.

A well-known Englishman was calling on an editor when he rose abruptly and said: "But I must not further occupy the time of a busy man."

"Not at all," exclaimed the editor. "I am always pleased."

"Oh, I was referring to myself," was the placid rejoinder.

16 TO GRADUATE

VAN WERT—Sixteen seniors will graduate from the Ohio City high school Wednesday, June 4. The commencement address will be given by Hon. John S. Snook, former congressman from the Fourth district. The Baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. H. C. Stuckenberg, Sunday evening. The class is the largest in the history of the Ohio City high school.

CITY OF BERLIN IS DECLARED AS 'GAMBLING MAD'

Millions Change Hands at Big Clubs Nightly, Says Report

BERLIN—Monte Carlo was a gambler's kindergarten compared to "gambling Berlin" today. In Monte, you could get gamblers excitement with a five franc piece; in Berlin the lowest bet is fifty mark. While there was a limit at Monte, you may put fifty thousand marks on a single card in Berlin.

If you are a stranger in Berlin just ask the chauffeur to drive you to one of the five hundred gamblers' "clubs" Berlin has today. Your looks will tell the chauffeur the class of club to which he had better take you to. There are all kinds, from the low class den to the most fashionable with special rooms for ladies, dancing halls and dining rooms, where diners, wines, liquors and coffees are served at half cost price. The visitors come from all stations of life. The film star sits beside the butcher-war-grafter; the countess beside a horsedealer; the baker's wife beside the coquette.

Except for some lotteries and raffles, at most of the clubs the play is "Baccarat." The club owners who get five per cent of the sums raised from the auctioning of "the bank," taking place every hour at least. The "card money" or fees, together with the percentage amounts to somewhat between 25,000 and 40,000 marks per night at the biggest clubs. The directors get 100,000 marks per year.

At no time in history has there been so much gambling at such high stakes. At some clubs 5,000,000 marks changing hands each night. The gamblers want to have all the action out of their fortunes before either the tax collector or the Bolsheviks gets them.

But not only the wealthy are infected with the bacillus. In the streets of Berlin people may be seen loose fifty or more marks at a single turn at "roulette." One day a soldier, having lost 500 marks, arrested the bankholder and, being attacked by the latter's friends, threw a hand grenade, killing himself and wounding several others.

The real gambling fever began during the last two years of the war and seemingly had not reached its highest point yet. During the last four weeks about two hundred new clubs have been licensed. One of the new rights the revolution has provided for every "free citizen" seems to be a gambling club of his own.

To prevent robbery of the clubs the military authorities provide the clubs with guards according to the size of them. In order to draw the customers the owners give weekly free dinners of a large number of courses and all the champagne you want to drink.

OHIO WINS POINT.

WASHINGTON.—Ohio and Pennsylvania, in supreme court Monday were granted temporary injunctions to restrain West Virginia from halting exportation of natural gas from the state.

The injunctions hold good, pending decision in suits by the states to permanently stop Virginia's non-exportation from coming effective.
